

To Get to Know Each Other

For after 2-3rd date – to help you get to know each other.

I have phrased all these questions asking for the biggest, most, hardest etc. but you don't have to spill your gut completely, do the best you can, open up as much as you can.

Chose a few questions, don't try to cover all this in one date.

1. What is the highlight of your life so far?
2. What is the hardest thing you ever had to do?
3. What is the most difficult decision you ever made?
4. Who do you admire most in history? (Rebbe and then who)
5. Who do you get along with the best in your family and why?
6. Who is the most difficult (no names) person for you to get along with and why?
7. What is your biggest success?
8. What is your biggest failure? What did you learn from it?
9. Whose family life do you admire and want to emulate and why? If you don't have an example of a good family life/ sholom bayis, how would you go about learning /preparing yourself for this?
10. What is the best way to discipline children?
11. Should a wife always do what her husband says? A husband always do what his wife says?
12. If you don't agree with someone, how do you handle it?

make up your own questions

Some more (suggested by a dating bocher)

- what kind of things really make you laugh?
- biggest goal in life at the moment?
- how would you spend a day off?
- what were you like as a kid?
- favorite schools teacher and why?
- what's your calling in life?
- any funny nicknames? Where did they come from?

Mazal, bracha and clarity!

Tzirel Frankel